

Contents

Kristóf Nyíri Preface	13
Charles Ess Always On? Ethical and Political Dimensions of Mobile Communication Technologies	17
James E. Katz Social Structure, New Communication Technology and Citizen Journalism	27
Richard Harper The Metaphysics of the Communications Age What Is the Source of Our Urge To Be in Touch?	37
Leopoldina Fortunati Reflections on Mediated Gossip	45
Rich Ling Trust, Cohesion and Social Networks The Case of Quasi-Illicit Photos in a Teen Peer Group	59
Gabriela David Clarifying the Mysteries of an Exposed Intimacy Another Intimate Representation Mise-en-scène	77

Kurt Röttgers The Pornographic Turn – or: The Loss of Decency	87
Anna Reading The Playful Panopticon? Ethics and the Coded Self in Social Networking Sites	93
Ulrich Johannes Schneider Counter-Knowledge An Update on Foucault in the Age of Mobile Communication	103
György Csepeli Masquerade in the Blogroom Effects of Anonymity on Communication in the New Medium	111
Jaz Hee-jeong Choi Searching the Self in Seoul Trans-youth and Urban Social Networking in Korea	121
István Maradi Social Networking on 3 Screens: A Transition Story	131
András Benedek Mobile Learning: New Horizons and Unstable Summits	139
Norbert Pachler – John Cook Mobile, Informal and Lifelong Learning A UK Policy Perspective	149

Anna Gyórfi – Ian Smythe Re-engaging the SEN Child into Learning through Social Networking A Case Study	159
Giuseppina Pellegrino The Electronic Body between Fragmentation and Concentration Tracing Symptoms for an Ethics of Multiplicity	169
Zsuzsanna Kondor Communication and the Metaphysics of Practice Sellarsian Ethics Revisited	179
Notes on Contributors	189
Index	197