

Contents

Kristóf Nyíri: Preface	15
COMMUNICATIVE DISSONANCE, COMMUNICATIVE ASSONANCE
James E. Katz: A Nation of Ghosts? Choreography of Mobile Communication in Public Spaces	21
Joachim R. Höflich: Part of Two Frames Mobile Communication and the Situational Arrangement of Communicative Behaviour	33
Ronald E. Rice – James E. Katz: Mobile Discourtesy National Survey Results on Episodes of Convergent Public and Private Spheres	53
Kenton O'Hara – Barry Brown – Mark Perry: Mobile Work, Technology and Place	65
György Csepeli – Klára Benda: Mediated Communication and Conformity A Replication of the Asch Conformity Experiment in an Online Environment	73

COMMUNICATION AND COMMUNITY

Joshua Meyrowitz: Global Nomads in the Digital Veldt	91
Kenneth J. Gergen: Self and Community in the New Floating Worlds	103
Gábor Szécsi: Language and Community in the Age of Electronic Media	115
Wendy Robinson: We've Been Mobilized: Consuming the Internet, Electronic Devices and Cellular Telephones on the Go	123
Mark Poster: Everyday Life and Mobile Phones	137
Mária Heller: Social and Political Effects of NICTs and Their Penetration in Hungary	147
David Robison: Mobile Privatization and the Metaphors of Mobile Industries	165

András Kelen:
Inland Roaming?
Appraising the Strategic Challenge Posed by a Forthcoming Choice of Alternative
Network Routes for Telephone Customers 177

ALL TOO HUMAN

Richard Harper:
Are Mobiles Good or Bad for Society? 185

Jane Vincent:
Emotion and Mobile Phones 215

Bella Ellwood-Clayton:
Virtual Strangers
Young Love and Texting
in the Filipino Archipelago of Cyberspace 225

DEMOCRACY AND MOBILE COMMUNICATION

Leopoldina Fortunati:
The Mobile Phone and Democracy:
An Ambivalent Relationship 239

Fernando Paragas:
Dramatextism
Mobile Telephony and People Power
in the Philippines 259

Endre Dányi – Miklós Sükösd: Who's in Control? Viral Politics and Control Crisis in Mobile Election Campaigns	285
Shin Dong Kim: The Shaping of New Politics in the Era of Mobile and Cyber Communication The Internet, Mobile Phone and Political Participation in Korea	317
On-Kwok Lai: Mobile Communicating for (E-)Democracy beyond Sovereign Territorial Boundaries Transnational Advocacies versus E-Government Initiatives in Comparative Perspectives	327
Dan Jamerö – Daniel Folkesson – Per Flensburg: Can Mobile Communication Make Democracy More Available?	339
Bruno von Niman et al.: Universal Access to Mobile Communication, for E-Inclusion	349

NETWORKS, WORK, AND LABOUR

Rich Ling – Birgitte Yttri – Ben Anderson – Deborah DiDuca: Mobile Communication and Social Capital in Europe	359
Satomi Sugiyama – James E. Katz: Social Conduct, Social Capital and the Mobile Phone in the U.S. and Japan A Preliminary Exploration via Student Surveys	375
Heidi Schumacher – Karin Drda-Kühn: Culture & ICT: Mobile Communications to Support Employment	387
Jonathan Donner: What Mobile Phones Mean to Rwandan Entrepreneurs	393
Csaba Szabó: Communication Order in Hungarian Society Networks in a Hungarian City	411
NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS	427
INDEX	441

